our "Annual August Sale of Blankets." arations for the "Blanket Sale" have been made with special care. During the manufacturer's dullest season we cess, placed this huge order long before the advance in wool. We hold great bargain-making power, and we're using it to your advantage. We make the public interest our own, giving customers the best end of each and every bargain, and so we swing into August with

7,500 Pairs of Blankets

at prices that are not matched from ocean to ocean.

10,000 Crocher Spreads at 59c, 79c, 89c, 98c, $1.10 to $1.35; fully one-third less than regular prices.

2,500 Colored Marseilles Spreads at $1.35, $1.65, $1.85, $2.25 to $2.65. The savings on any of these will net you forty per cent.

Our methods have destroyed dull Augusts, and great activity abounds as a result. Economical people would much sooner buy now at lower prices than pay regular prices for regular goods in September or October. We ask nothing better than for you to see the blankets the above prices represent. It will well repay buyers within 300 miles of New York to attend this great blanket event, and our friends will not forget that we deliver all goods free within 100 miles, at your railroad station.

The Beginning of the Second August Sale of Furniture

NE years (g) the first August Sale of Furniture was announced by this firm in another city. It was received with some astonishment. Why make a heavy sale at the dullest time of the year?

The extraordinary success of the movement proved its rationality. It has been repeated in every ye, ar

July gone—inventory taken—now for August! Prep- since then, and extensively imitated;—although it has never been copied. Last August we inaugurated the New York succession of these sales, and with instant and extreme suc-

The second in the chain begins to-day. The stock of furniture provided for the movement of this year aggregates the astonishing figures of almost exactly

This amount of money expended with furniture manufacturers at exactly the dullest time of year effects extraordinary price-results, and is the rationale of the movement.

The average saving is one-third There are many chances to save one-half

There is no price greater than three-fourths of the usual Every piece offered in this sale is new, bought expressly for this sale, bought only from manufacturers known to be reliable, and are their best productions for their own trade. In the whole immense stock there is not a hastily nor carelessly made piece. All the goods are good, substantial, reliable, excellent, dignified. There is no flippant "sale-stuff," made for the purpose, nor damaged goods, nor old goods.

An attempt at rough classification follows. Anything in the nature of exact cataloguing is, in the face of such an immensity, a hopeless task in these columns.

The extent of the stock places a heavy tax upon our storage facilities, and we must therefore announce that, while every effort will be made to adjust conditions to extreme cases, we cannot carry purchases in storage for future delivery.

Bed-Room Suits

Sixty-five samples are shown, representing a stock of 2,500 suits. In Mahogany, Curiy Birch, Bird's-eye Maple, Antique Oak, and in Mahogany with marquetrie and hand-carving. Prices begin at $10 for a solid and handsome oak suit, and run up to $175 for the elaborately carved and inlaid mahogany sets. The saving shown in these prices is very material, averaging more than one-third, and in special instances reaching one-half, the lowest and in special instances reaching one-half, the lowest regular retail figures.

In these we shall show one hundred and twenty-five different styles. The space given up to this one assortment is greater than many furniture stores have, all told. These know,—and as are of course single pieces, chosen with particular reference to the increasing demand for odd. ornate and ornamental bureaus. Prices begin at $5 and run up to $450. A quarter, third and half under usual figures.

Toilet Tables

Fifty styles in these, and over six hundred in stock. The skill Extension Tables and taste of the designer are shown in these perhaps to greater effect than in any other piece we show. As the very altar of the toilette, these tables are, and should be, the best possible combination of artistic grace with practical convenience. All the woods are shown, from oak to mahogany. Prices run from $4.50 to $63. Many are half price, most are one-third less than regular.

Bed-Room Chairs and Rockers

Two hundred styles are shown, and we have never known nor heard of an assortment to equal it. In such a vast extent of variety description is powerless. We can but say that the prices on chairs run from 60c. to $7 each, and on rockers from $1.15 to $9.50, and that the saving generally

Couches

We have the frames, and finish to your order in any one of about fifty ways. $9 to $55, with $15 and $20 as popular standards. Very best construction, even in the cheapest.

One hundred and fifty styles, representing a stock of more than one thousand. Several nundred of these are to be sold at $3.75,—a really sensational bargain. Of the other styles, 25 are offered at prices under $12. A more complete stock was never shown, nor at such figures. Sideboards A very good one, indeed, for $10. That shows something of the use of this sale to you, for the piece is a very good one. There are a hundred other styles, ranging in price from the ten dollar one to one or two styles at $250.

The assortment is especially rich in the old Flemish oak finish, and in the imer sorts of "hand-rubbed linish pieces. the China Closets Enough in variety to keep you busy a whole morning.

Prices from $10 to $175. We earnestly ask your attention to the freshness and novelty of the styles. All new goods (like all the pieces in this sale), and very carefully chosen. Very economically priced. The $10 sort, for example, is of solid oak, highly finished, with glass doors and sides, heavy cornice and shaped legs. There are a few at $12.50 that are the best we ever saw at the pricesmust company there were more of them.

wish there were more of them. Buffets

Twenty-six styles, priced from $7.50 to $75, with a bargain at every step. Oak, in all its finishes, and mahogany, for the most part. Many wholly new designs are shown, and the medium-priced carved mahogany pieces, in colonial styles will prove acceptable provides the provided and the medium-priced carved mahogany pieces, in $9 to $110. One hundred a colonial styles, will prove especially popular, because they are especially desirable and emphatically cheap.

in this line we show the largest assortment that has ever been presented in this city. The demand is increasing so enormously that large stocks and wide assortments are

These goods have suffered, and are suffering, through cheap imitation. These are the good goods, not the imitations, yet are now even cheaper than the latter. All are enamelled in white, of best construction and with latest improvements as to springs and attachments. We show this morning fifty styles. Prices from $3.50 to $35.

We show the complete lines of the four best makers we know,-and as these are practically the only large makers in this country, we show the complete line of American production. A wholly new set of prices, showing marked economies. Forty-seven styles. Prices from $15 to $100. As an example of the economies mentioned, the bedstead at $32 is a $50 one. A very important item in all such sales, and well provided for in this. We show seventy-three styles, and the prices are particularly attractive. For instance,—a good, solid oak highly-finished table, extending to six feet, for $3.50,—to eight feet, at $4.50. These are the lowest priced, the 70 other styles are marked up to $100. Some are balf-

Dining Chairs More than 150 styles in this sale to select from, and a better variety in better goods has never been shown in this city. The assortment includes every wood, every finish, every kind of seat, and every price from 75c, to $3 each. Half and two-thirds prices, some few of the rarer sorts are priced, all are worth a full 50 per cent. more.

only a quarter less regular prices.

Parlor Suits In order to be sure of your satisfaction, we show the frames only, and finish to your order. You are thus certain of getting exactly the colors you wish, and it is no more expensive thus made to order than if you picked from an assortment of finished pieces. We ask $12 for a three-piece suit in mahogany, finished in damask, and from that price up to $290, for three-piece gold suits, finished in silk. We show about one hundred styles in frames, and offer unlimited choice of finish in the over-stuffed pieces.

Parlor Tables, and Others

In this paragraph we include a variety so immense that it is impossible to give much idea of it. Besides more than one hundred styles in centre tables, there are assortments in Work Tables, Bedroom Tables, Card Tables, Tea Tables, Study Tables, Office Tables, and tables unlimited for more uses than are mentionable. In each, the variety manual into scores in some cases, into hundreds. runs well into scores, in some cases into hundreds There are close to 2,000 pieces in this one division of the stock. Prices run from 75c to $100,—detail is im-possible. A third saving on everything, though, except when it's a half.

Forty styles shown, priced $5 to $100. The $5 one is a remarkable bargain, and as there are only 200 of them, you must come to-day to get one. Worth coming for,—made of oak, 6 ft. high, 32 inches wide, with a mirror 12x18

These are shown on the fifth floor, to get room for the biggest array you have ever looked over. Ninety styles in desks, $9 to $110. One hundred and ten styles in office chairs, half, most are one-third under the usual standards.
